CONCERN.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.-Upon ducing many persons to pay $12.50 for narrow lots perched up in the nountains back of Lake Elsinore and valued by experts at 25 cents an acre, Leon Cory and John F. Ford, officers of the Mutual Benefit and Loan society of this city, were placed on trial in Judge Willis' court yeaorney Veitch, who is prosecuting the his death, October 20, 1913, he was investors from their hard-earned cash. One instance is given of a widow with four children, who lives in Bairdstown, who "invested" $7

According to Deputy Veitch, the lan of the company was to send agents, mainly into outlying towns nore and after declaring that the lots were worth at least $100, the agent would leave a coupon with the person which entitled him to a drawing Later another person would call with the glad tidings that the lucky one had drawn a fine lot and that the deed would be waiting at the of fice of the Mutual Benefit and Loan A call at the office would give the officers always made the representa ion that $12.50 was needed to pay for the notary fee and the abstrac of ritie according to the prosecutor The receipt entitled each recipient of an Elsinore lot to membership in the Mutual Benefit and Loan society. cution does not fully present their position.

Both state that the lots were sold for a small sum in order to bring persons to the office, where they could be interested in the loan and insurance features. The two defendants say that by paying them $2.50 a month one is insured against loss of health or family, and that suitable weekly payments will be made to persons suffering from illness.

Some time ago Detective Zeigler went to the office, then located in a prominent downtown building, and took the books, papers and the officers of the concern to the police sta tion. No prosecution followed, but Cory and Ford never tried to re plevin their literature nor to get satisfaction for the tactles of the officer, who was not equipped with a search warrant.

In the advertising literature, a part of the exhibits, it is casually mentioned that a pipe line of water runs NEVADA through the tract. So it does, says Deputy Veitch, but the pipe runs from a spring in the mountains to a bee rauch below and cannot be used by purchasers or others who hold title to lots in the tract.
